Descriptions of the different accounts available in connection with the Redbird ID Card:

Meal Plan Account:	A meal plan is obtained through Dining & used in residence hall dining facilities only.
Flex Accounts:	A portion of the Dining meal contract available to buy food items at locations outside of the residence hall dining facilities. Residence hall dining locations accept this account after meals are exhausted or to purchase guest meals.
Redbird $ Account:	Money must first be deposited into the account. These funds may be used at any location which accepts the Redbird Card. This is the only account with which you may purchase "non-food" items or services. This account is available to all students, faculty, staff, retirees, and U-High students.
<small>*These locations do not accept cash. Please contact specific location for more details. Computer labs on campus may or may not accept cash.</small>
<small>Locations have readers which your Redbird Card is "swiped" through to access your accounts via the computer system. Each reader is set up to look into one account at a time, in a certain order. If no money is found in the first account, the next account is accessed. The balance shown after your transaction is processed corresponds to the account from which money was deducted.</small>
